CONCENTRATED LEAVEN,
FOR MAKING
BREAD, TEA CAKES,
All kinds of Pastry, &c., &c.
MANUFACTURED BY
EDW. CHAMBERLIN & CO.
Proprietors of Blawmut Chemical Works
No 33 INDIA STREET, BOSTON

CONCENTRATED LEAVEN is the result of careful chemical research. All its ingredients are prepared in the highest state of purity, and compounded with a view to produce bread of a far better quality and in much less time than by any other process, and the manufacturers submit it with entire confidence to the judgment of discriminating housekeepers, bakers, &c &c.

Bread of all kinds, made by using CONCENTRATED LEAVEN, is lighter, more digestible and nutritious has an agreeable natural taste is less liable to sour will retain its moisture longer than by any other process, and the whole preparation for the oven need not exceed ten minutes.

It is valuable because it is not perishable and may be rendered available in places and at times when yeast is not within reach as at sea. In all climates and under all circumstances, it may be adopted thus obviating all difficulty of procuring yeast or other ferment, which is frequently of an inferior quality, rendering the bread more or less unwholesome.

It is also valuable as regards economy as it has been ascertained that a saving is effected in the flour of not less than 16 per cent. In the common process much of the saccharine of the flour is lost by being converted into carbonic acid gas or spirit and the waste is incurred solely for the purpose of generating gas to raise the dough. By using CONCENTRATED LEAVEN this waste is avoided and the gas obtained in a manner equally efficacious. Fermentation as has been stated destroys a part of the flour or meal and in consequence a barrel of flour weighing 196 lbs. which by the common method ordinarily makes about 240 lbs of bread, gives by this process 280 lbs. thus effecting the very important saving of 16 per cent. in the quantity of flour. By conformity to the direct one in each package any person capable of ordinary attention may conduct the process, and the result will invariably be highly satisfactory.

CERTIFICATE FROM DR HAYES

Assayer to the State of Massachusetts

"I have analyzed the Concentrated Leaven manufactured by Messrs Edw Chamberlin & Co with reference to its purity and efficiency of action in producing the effect Yeast in distending dough and thereby rendering light for making bread. This article is skillfully compounded from perfectly pure materials, which cause nothing but a vegetable salt which is essentially a desirable food in the bread. It raises the dough without consuming the sugar or any other principle in the flour perfectly and the same weight of flour will produce more sweet palatable bread than can be obtained from the use of yeast, while it makes and pastry it is in valuable, as it saves all risk, and much time of the pastry cook.

The experiments made by me confirm the statements of the manufacturers, and prove this compound worthy of public approval and extended use.

Respectfully

HOW TO USE IT

We subjoin a few receipts that may be used with great advantage in all other kinds of cake also in fruit puddings and other pastry.

Breakfast and Tea Rolls—Two or three teaspoonfuls of Leaven according to the quality of the flour to one quart of flour sift thoroughly by passing, two or three times through a sieve, rub in a piece of butter of half the size of an egg and make the paste with cold milk or water (milk is preferable) barely stiff enough to permit rolling out. Much kneading should be avoided. Cut into biscuit form and place immediately in a hot oven and bake quickly.

Loaf Bread—The same proportions of Leaven and flour sifted together as above, omit the butter and make the paste stiff enough to knead into a loaf and bake immediately in a slow oven.

Graham Bread—Three teaspoonful of Leaven to one quart of wheat meal sifted fine, add one gill of molasses and two eggs, make the paste thin with milk and bake on slow iron.

Tea Cake—Three teaspoonfuls of Leaven to one pint of flour and one pint of wheat meal all well sifted together, add two eggs and about a gill of molasses, make the paste thin with milk, and bake slowly.

Buckwheat Cake—Flour and milk sufficient to make one quart of batter, add one egg, then three teaspoonsful of Leaven, beat to a froth and cook quick.

Dumplings—Sift together one quart of flour and two teaspoonfuls of Leaven, rub in a piece of butter half as large as an egg, mix with cold water or milk and boil ten minutes.

Crumpet Sweet Cake—Sift together two large cups of flour and two teaspoonfuls of Leaven, put in half a cup of butter and a cup and a half of sugar, mix with cold water or milk to a stiff batter, add spice to suit the taste and bake immediately.

Cup Cake—Two cups of white sugar, beaten with the yolks of six eggs—the whites of six eggs beaten to a froth then beat all together, add three cups of sifted flour, one cup of water and three teaspoonfuls of Leaven, flavor with two teaspoonfuls of essence of lemon and bake in a quick oven.

Jumbles—Sift together one quart flour and three teaspoonfuls of Leaven, rub in one teacup full of butter, add a cup and a half of white sugar and spice to suit the taste, mix stiff enough to roll out, and bake quick.

Election Cake—One quart of flour and three teaspoonfuls of Leaven sifted together, add a cup of butter, one pound of currants, two cups of white sugar and one teacup full of brandy, mix with cold milk to a stiff batter and bake in a slow oven.

Note.—The failure of IRON as a remedy for Dyspepsia, and bad state of the blood, and the numerous diseases resulting thereby, has arisen from the use of such a preparation of Iron as shall enter the stomach in a blistering state and assimilate at once with the blood. This want the PERUVIAN SYRUP supplies, and it does so in the only form in which it is possible for Iron to enter the circulation. For this reason the PERUVIAN SYRUP has radically cured thousands of cases in which other preparations of Iron and other medicines have been found to be of no avail.

Certificate of A A HAYES, M D, of Boston.
It is well known that the medicinal effects of Protoxide of Iron are lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that no medicine which has been prepared with a further intake has been found impossible.

Departure of Vice President Hamlin

Mr Hamlin and his lady left this city by yesterday morning's train for Washington They were to arrive at Boston last evening, and leave this morning for New York—making only a brief stay in that city or at any other point, before arriving at the capital It is not Mr Hamlin's object to meet Mr Lincoln in New York, although they may accidentally reach that city on the same day

Mr Hamlin fellow townsmen of Hampden gave him a numerous escort from his home, (five miles below this city) to the railroad station and he was met and received at the line of the city by a large number of our citizens The immense sleigh belonging to Messr McLaughlin and Shaw of the Franklin House, drawn by six horses decorated with plumes headed the procession, and was occupied by his honor Mayor Stetson Judge Kavors Hon Percival Hamlin and Bowman and a large number of other citizens Mr and Mrs Hamlin were received on board at the line which is about a mile below the railroad bridge and a long procession of single and double sleighs filling the road for nearly a mile then preceded and followed the Vice President and Party

Arrived at the station a great crowd was found as ensued notwithstanding the early hour in the morning and the enthusiastic cheers of thousands of voices—the warm greeting the warm grasp of old friends the affectionate and almost tearful farewell—called to the strength of that rule and affection which our people feel for the Five Person and to the anxiety with which they see him go forth to a station which may be one of peril but in which they know he will ever stand up faithfully and fearlessly for the right

As the train moved off during a few words both of welcome and of farewell were addressed to Mr Hamlin by S Grover Esq in behalf of the citizens

Mr Crosby said

Mr Hamlin—Your fellow citizens have met you this morning in crowds to bid you an affectionate farewell as you set out on a broader and grander power than that which for so many years, by our election to the executive We repose with confidence in your patriotism your honor and your national pride and we know that no act or thought I ever will strike one star from our national banner The hands of hearts go with you and need be tender and strong arms will surround you

To which Mr Hamlin readily and feelingly responded, in substance as follows

Neighbors and Fellow Citizens—While it would have been comported with my own feelings to have quietly departed from my home I am profoundly impressed by this demonstration of your kindness and respect The emotions which I cannot will make have no adequate language for expression I can but tender you the honest thanks of a grateful heart For nearly a third of a century I have resided in your midst, and my highest ambition has been to secure your confidence and good will Only I am cheered in the belief that I have been wholly unsuccessful To me the kind and friendly ship of my neighbors and of the citizens with whom I have issued for a higher value than any political position that man can give

I go to the discharge of official duties which have been conferred upon me by a generous people Relying upon Divine Providence I trust that confidence shall never be betrayed A man may cheerfully lay down his life upon the altar of his country, but he who honors renders his integrity, loses his self respect and the respect of others

I know full well that dark clouds are lowering around the political horizon, and that madness rules the hour But I am hopeful still—Our people are not only loyal to the Government but they are fraternal to all its citizens, and when in practice it shall be demonstrated that the constitutional rights of all the States will be respected and maintained by following the paths illumined by Washington, Jefferson and Madison, may we not reasonably hope and expect that quiet will be restored, and our whole country still advance in a career which shall elevate man in a social moral and intellectual condition

Mr Hamlin assured his fellow citizens with earnestness and deep feeling, that whatever might befalle him as a man, or in his official station, he would endeavor though all to stand faithfully by his duty and by the right, and that he should hold even his life at the service of his country

Looking to Him (and Mr H) in whose hands are the destinies of nations, as well as individuals, and who has been our safety and our shield in the past, and with a firm and unshaken reliance upon His care and protection, let us look hopefully to the future; and if there are storms around us, let storms in the physical world they will leave a purer sky and clearer atmosphere when they have passed away.

But, my friends, it is not my purpose to detain you. I hope a few weeks to return and to participate with you in all that shall promote and advance your prosperity, in which I so fully sympathize with you Again thanking you cordially and sincerely for your kindness, I bid you good bye

Mr Hamlin's remarks were received with frequent bursts of applause by the great crowd of people who filled the station house—and when he had concluded, as many as could approach took him by the hand and bade him God speed—and the train moved off amid the cheers and benedictions of the people

The Southern Confederacy

Correspondence of the N Y Tribune

CHARLESTON, Feb 11

The Rebels are glum Their occupation is gone The game is out of their hands The Montgomery Convention, or Congress, has done the business The selection of Jeff Davis and Alex Stephens for the posts of President and Vice President of the Southern Confederacy has proved a complete break-down of the hopes and expectations of the fire eaters They led off in the secession business, broke the ice, and were ready to break their necks for Southern rights Rhett was going to be the first President, and the State stood ready to supply all the other officers. But instead of Rhett being chosen President, Davis who is opposed to South Carolina's extreme policy, with Stephens, who is a Union man at heart, are chosen, and South Carolina gets nothing but this rebuff The fire eaters swear that they have been sold and that Governor Pickens has all along been secretly in the business But one thing more remains to be done to render secession in South Carolina under stands it, worse than an abortion, and that is the placing of the question of retaking Fort Sumter and the other Government property out of the hands of South Carolina and handing it over to the Confederated authorities South Carolina can no longer lead she must follow and be led by those who have quite different ideas of things Should this transfer of the main question in dispute be made as is now expected it would quite break the backs of the fire eaters Perhaps the haves a suspicion that in the long (or short) run their necks may have the same fate It is said that men sometimes have remarkable presentiments of the mysterious ways whereby incorruptible justice is executed itself

Since South Carolina has had both a breeding and martial gale placed on her you may expect to see some extensive foundering, as is generally the case with fractious animals—subjects for the hands of a Rarey The Mercury Journal owns it It told the Montgomery Convention that if did anything directly or indirectly, that savores of reconstruction its hours might cease with the beginning thereof What was announced in advance as the fatal policy has been adopted and the Mercury, the fire eaters and the sovereign State of South Carolina must submit—or secede Strange things than that have happened

THROWN VERSUS THE WINTER The revolting States congressing the Southern Congress now in session at Montgomery who foiled the Union under the assumed right of peaceable secession are fast ignoring all their old State rights theories, and talk of creating a strong government obliterating State lines all gether and establishing a sort of despotism instead of a federal republic The weakness and insecurity of the American Union, are urged as an argument for a greater centralization of power A pretty condition this is for the men who cried out against State rights as the refuge of the renegadoes of secession and disunion and one must suppose even in the present emergency — Inquirer & Dem

PREDICTING THE STATE OF THE WEATHER—The method of predicting and predicting the weather, pursued each year at the Smithsonian Institute is pecuniary simple Daily blanks are sent out to the United States signal stations with printed questions to be answered by the observers of the Institute at stated intervals Daily reports are received by telegraph or mail and these some 1400 in number are plotted on a map showing at a glance the changes of temperature, the direction of the wind, the state of the weather—whether raining or snowing, cloudy or clear, etc etc All storms travel East but the rate at which they extend to and with great certainty the probabilities of the weather twelve hours in advance

A thief stole an overcoat from a gentleman at a place of worship on Wednesday The owner advertises next day that if the thief return the overcoat no questions will be asked but if not the coat, this was done and the unopened letters were found to contain large amounts of money

LECTURE FOR THE CONFEDERACY—Rev Dr Palmer of the Church of St Paul's Cathedral will lecture on the deposed Lady Liberty the United States Dr Palmer is a gentleman of public influence and will no doubt carry $100 to the credit of the United States the same having been received by him through the post office

The following is the particulars relative to the period in the case of the propeller Pontiac broken in two in the night of the recent cold Monday and Tuesday are given by the Boston Daily Ads

She was out in the gale and cold weather, and made no headway for hours and became entirely unmanageable The crew would hardly stand a chance in case of a wreck and it was impossible to get any head way upon the boat Under these circumstances the officers and crew prepared for making land and the boat was ordered to drift where she pleased She drifted about 70 miles, nearly over to Cape Sable when the gale and weather moderating she lay there until the ice could be knocked off and steam be got up again, when she made for Eastport arriving there at 10 o clock Saturday evening Her cargo consisted of rum, meal, molasses, &c The rum was upon the bottom of the hold The vessel rolled in such a manner as to work the meal to the bottom lifting the rum Three hogsheads of molasses and one of rum burst, and, mixing with the meal, made a curious sort of mush which spread over the whole of the boat, presenting a singular appearance The officers and crew of the propeller consider the narrow escape they ever had for the rigging The boat is so much injured that it will take some time to repair her and put her in seaworthy order

LIEUTENANT GILMAN whose name has been frequently mentioned in the papers in connection with Fort Pickens is a native of Bath He is second in command at the fort Gilman is a brave fellow We know him well He is a native of Thomaston He fitted for college in Farmouth, and entered Bowdoin in 1840, but having received an appointment as cadet at West Point, he left college during his sophomore year He is a powerful, athletic fellow, standing about six feet two inches in his stockings About two years ago he married an adopted daughter of Stephen Young, Esq, a wealthy citizen of Pittston — Union

The Montreal Gazette corrects its statement respecting the suit of Mr. Morrison against the Grand Trunk Railway. The suit is brought, not for two million pounds, but for the accrued interest on about £10,000 of the £2 600,000 issue of bonds. Quite a difference

KANSAS Mr Editor Recent authentic accounts of the sufferings and actual starvation of the people of Kansas ought to awaken here, as in other parts of the country, immediate interest and sympathy When famine has fallen upon other land, we have been quick to response to calls for aid Now that our own people are in distress, let us not be slow to send them relief The Lever at Norombega will give an opportunity to a large number of our citizens to contribute I would suggest as an additional measure, that collections be taken up in all the churches, on the next Sabbath for the same purpose CHARITY

The Farmington Chronicle tells of an instance of ground and loft tumbling which occurred at Lost Nation As Dr Lude was approaching the village, his horse took fright, and leaving the highway tumbled the whole establishment, man horse and sleigh over an embankment some twenty feet Strange to say, neither man nor horse were injured, and but little damage done to the rigging.

DISTRESS IN GEORGIA The Post Office Department has received the following letter from a Postmaster in Georgia It is one of many similar epistles

I belong to that party in Georgia who know but little (if any) difference between Southern secession and northern fanaticism I look upon the precipitancy of the seceding States, as wild in the extreme. Already distress and ruin press upon us, a dark veil hangs between us and the future, and nothing but the interposition of Him who holds the destinies of nations in his hands can save us from ruin.

OAKLAND Ind 6th June 1860

J C Ayer & Co. Gents I feel it my duty to acquaint you with the wonderful benefit I have received from your Sarsaparilla. I have suffered from infancy with a scrofulous humor which would break out on my hands and arms so that I often turned black and looked dreadful. Two years ago it came out on my head and for a time I despaired of ever being free from it. Hearing much of your Sarsaparilla I tried it. It has wrought a complete cure. My hair has grown out as thick as ever. I feel like a new man. I think it my duty to make this public for the benefit of those who may be afflicted as I was. Yours respectfully
